And finally...

All it remains for me to say is a BIG thank you to the outgoing Upper Sixth prefects for their enthusiasm and dynamic leadership over the past year.
Their legacy will be the inaugural Nugent Pomodoro House dinner, plus a much healthier version of cheese and wine nights (albeit the wine quota remains of course the same)

Pictured below are the incoming Year
9s—the Upper 6th leavers of 2023!

We have all enjoyed the new facilities this term including the dining room, the sports hall, the gym and the swimming pool. Impressive as these are, it is the people who are make up a community, and I thank each and every one of the Nugent girls for their joie de vivre and indomitable house spirit.

Happy summer! Vicky x

Summer Term 2018

Dear Parents,

The sun continues to shine gloriously!
With exams now a dim and distant memory, we have enjoyed the finest which the summer term has to offer: tennis, Year 9 trips to France, CCF camps and promotions, Dell play, work experience and a whole lot more. Prize-giving yesterday was a wonderful triumph to the year with the two major prizes awarded to Nugent girls: Lucy Ritson won the prestigious Le Brocq prize, and Sapphyre Mills Kennelly brought the Tom Lewis trophy back to Nugent for the fourth year running—it doesn't get much better that!

Hard work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard.

Performing Arts and charity

One of the highlights of the summer term is always the Dell Play, and this year’s production of Alice in Wonderland was magical! Directed by our very own Mrs Sinnett and ably assisted by Bianca Bordoni and Tess Donnelly, Holly Fletcher Price, Daisy Mayhew and Ceci Mann all starred. Ceci has since been awarded half colours for drama. Earlier in the term Georgie Ginbey, Lucy George, Elo Quitmann and Abi Disu all took part in a thought-provoking scholars’ play about social media. Elo and Olivia Jayaraj continue to carve names for themselves in the singer-songwriting world—and both performed brilliantly at the recent singer-songwriter evening—Liv pictured below. Hot off the press from LAMDA is Rosie Wheatley gaining a merit in Grade 5 and Lucy George a merit in Grade 7.

There have been many times this term where I have been really proud of the girls for giving up their time to help others. Most impressive of all was Sapphyre Mills Kennelly, who raised £200 for the Lunchbowl network by baking and selling date cakes and biscuits in Bahrain over the May half term—all the more impressive given that it was during Ramadan! Holly, Ceci and Charlie Chatterton all waitressed at the St Wilfrids charity lunch, and Holly, Izzy McIntosh and Daisy Mayhew also waitressed at the cricket. Izzy and Gianna Quinn helped with the running of sports day for our local partnership schools.

Talaayah Gunaydin put her fantastic art talent to good use and designed a beautiful mural for the drama department—pictured below. Not surprisingly she was awarded full colours for art this term.

‘The will to win is important—the will to prepare to win is vital’

Many congratulations to Prue Barnes who was awarded full colours in tennis this term—and with that she completes her triple stag having already achieved full colours in hockey and netball. Kristin Michahelles, Phoebe Watton and Valentina Khalturina also received half colours.

There were some stand-out performances at the interhouse athletics yesterday—crowing glory goes to Izzy McIntosh for winning the Victrix Ludorum for her victories in hurdles and high jump. Other gold medallists were Rebekkah Agunede—hurdles and 100m, Megan Moore—800m, Elo Quitmann - 1,500m, Eliza ‘I didn’t mean to throw it so far’ Reynolds—javelin; Holly Fletcher Price—400m and the Nugent relay team of Meg, Rebekkah, Eliza and Izzy. Rebekkah is also the Sussex diamond league champion of 100m.

Tennis is going from strength to strength in Nugent. We were overall WINNERS of both the senior and junior competitions (Phoebe Valentina, Izzy and Amelia Baron seniors; Elo, Yasmin Tarn, Alice Durnell, Savannah Winston, Abbie Coleman, Jess Lock, Teresa MP, Rosie Wheatley juniors). Prue and Kristin have also represented the College at the highest level. Elo, Alice and Yasmin were made Sussex chamions, and Phoebe continues to improve her GB ranking. Valentina will be captain of tennis next year.

Many of the girls have made the most of the new swimming pool, and congratulations to Georgie Ginbey for gaining a departmental commendation for stepping up to try new stroke in the inaugural home match which also saw Sapphyre Mills Kennelly, Izzy Webb, Daisy Mayhew, Holly Fletcher Price and Izzy McIntosh taking part.

Arabella Batt has been living the dream of blue health and representing the College in sailing. Finally Sophia Semkina and Ksenya Karpovskaya have been awarded red and yellow belts in kick boxing—don’t mess with these two!

Farewell to Matron and others

As you are aware, Susan leaves us after four years of very loyal service. It has been an immense pleasure to work with Susan over the years and her office has always been that still small voice of calm among the hurly-burly of Nugent. The girls will never forget Monday a afternoon Matron’s teas, Crafty Christmas, the many barbeques, various trips to A&E, her talent for decoupage and of course the crazy pugs.

Also leaving us this year are Jane Bathard Smith and Evelyn Valencia—the latter to return to America and the former to take up a position as Head of English here at the College. Evelyn wins the record for the highest number of tutee meals this year, and Jane’s tutees will certainly miss her thorough and kind approach to all aspects of their pastoral life, Tuesday cake break and Digby!

Mentioned in Dispatches....

In the same week as the Royal Wedding, Hannah Feben Smith was invited to Buckingham Palace to be awarded her Gold D of E. She missed the Duke and Duchess of Sussex by a whisker! Good luck to Eliza Reynolds as she does her silver qualifying next week.

Holly Fletcher Price was classed highly commended in the Newton Reading competition.

Sapphyre Mills Kennelly WON the Year 9 photography competition with a photo of a Bahrain sunset.

Rebekah Agunede and Abi Disu were crowned most improved cadet in CCF, and Loveday Rowlands and Elo Quitmann were both promoted.

Sapphyre and Georgie Ginbey were highly commended in the French reading competition, Georgie pictured opposite.
