Role

Teacher of Classics (Maternity Cover) September 2024 to December 2024.

September 2024

INTRODUCTION

Eastbourne College is a co-educational HMC independent school of just over 630 pupils, of whom half are full-time boarders. It is a strong community with excellent links with local schools and the remarkable town in which it is located.

Academic standards are very high with an average of 80% of A-level grades being awarded A*, A or B in the last four years. At GCSE approximately two thirds of all grades awarded are 7 to 9. The College recruits from a wide ability range and value added outcomes are exemplary. The majority of College leavers enter higher education in leading universities at home or abroad.

The College is run as a seven day week, full boarding school. Day pupils share the same wide curriculum as boarders and enjoy equal access to the physical and human resources of the school. Day pupils can complete their prep in Houses; buses run at both 18:00 and 20:00 on weekday evenings.

We are proud of our rich cultural and sporting traditions. The recently built Birley Centre is a hub of music practice, performance, composition and recording. There is an established partnership with Glyndebourne and links with Ballet Rambert, local artists and musical ensembles. College artists exhibit in London, actors have starred in film and TV; the Design & Technology department wins an extraordinary number of Arkwright scholarships. We have an enviable reputation for sport both regionally and nationally. Eastbournians frequently represent the county in hockey, rugby, cricket and netball; several old Eastbournians have gone on to achieve international honours. There are also thriving CCF, D of E and service programmes.

Eastbourne College places great emphasis on the importance of developing a school in which education is built on core values and positive, supportive relationships. These central qualities will endure long after a student moves on from the College. The five key values of participation, the pursuit of excellence, integrity, courtesy and kindness are, it believes, the bedrock upon which every child's education should stand, providing them with the wherewithal to flourish both at school and beyond.

THE POST

THE POST

The College seeks to appoint an inspirational and energetic Teacher of Classics from September 2024. The right person will have a marvellous opportunity to work in a stimulating environment, where resources, buildings, colleagues and pupils all strengthen the process of teaching and learning.

The position would suit an NQT, an experienced teacher wanting to put his or her experience to use in a different context, someone returning to teaching, or a high-calibre graduate without a formal teaching qualification but with the right skills and vision to inspire and motivate young people.

The successful applicant will be expected to teach Latin and classical civilisation to pupils of all abilities throughout the school, though non-language specialists will be considered. At GCSE, students follow the OCR course in Latin, Greek and Classical Civilisation. At A-level, sixth form pupils are taught the OCR specifications for Latin and Greek, as well as for Classical Civilisation. Pupils in Year 9 study either Latin or Classical Civilisation and Classical Greek is offered to the most able.

All members of Common Room are expected to play an additional part in the broader life of the College, e.g., by acting as a tutor in one of the day or boarding houses, by offering their expertise in coaching team sports, or contributing to music, drama, debating etc. The Classics department has a long tradition of wide and varied contribution, recognising the value it brings to relationships with pupils in the classroom.

The College has its own salary scale and the successful applicant will be placed on the scale at a level commensurate with age, experience and qualifications. Accommodation may be available for single or married applicants, including those with families. Teaching staff benefit from generous rates for the education of their own children both at the College and at St. Andrew's preparatory school.

THE DEPARTMENT

There is a strong tradition of Classics at the College. There are five Classics teachers, including the College chaplain. The department is housed at the front of School House, with four classrooms and a departmental office, which is sometimes used for teaching small sixth form sets. The department is generously resourced in terms of technology and books; there is an interactive touchscreen board in each classroom and the department has its own well-stocked library which is complemented by the College's learning resource centre. Teachers in the department are encouraged to embrace different approaches to teaching and using technology in the classroom.

Those studying Classics at the College are passionate about their subjects and we enrich their learning with various activities, including trips and study days for A-level students. There are also Classics society events with a range of activities. The department also aims to get to productions of Classical drama where possible.

Pupils in Year 9 follow either a Latin course or a bespoke Classical Civilisation course which feeds into the skills required at GCSE but which is wholly exclusive from GCSE in terms of content. For Latin, Cullen and Taylor's Latin to GCSE book is used alongside resources developed by the department. The most able Latinists in each year also study Greek, following Taylor's Greek to GCSE course.

At GCSE, there are normally two or three Classical Civilisation sets (OCR syllabus: Myth and Religion and The Homeric World) and two Latin sets, with the top set Latin also studying Greek to GCSE with extra curriculum time. Results have been strong, with 80% 9-7 in GCSE Latin over the past two years and 82% 9/8 grades in Greek.

At A-level, pupils study the OCR syllabus for Latin, classical Greek and classical civilisation. Teachers have some licence to choose subjects which interest them, but currently the the department is teaching The World of the Hero, Imperial Image and Greek Religion. Each year, pupils go on to study Classics and related subjects at a wide range of universities including Oxford and Cambridge.

POSTSCRIPT

There are many attractions to teaching at Eastbourne College, not least its location on the south coast in on the sunniest parts of the country.

The College provides a safe, urban environment in an attractive part of a peaceful town where pupils have easy access to shops, cinemas, and theatres at appropriate times, and this strengthens the boarding experience. The railway station is close, with easy travel to Gatwick (one hour) and London (under 90 minutes). The beach and sea are a five-minute walk away and the South Downs (the newest National Park) are literally on our doorstep.

The school is a strikingly happy, cohesive and coherent community. We look forward to meeting you.
